

You can add and save digital notes in your assignments. These can be SUPER useful when you need to review for quizzes and tests!

1. Put your cursor in the left margin where you want to add the note.
2. When you see the gray tab, click it and type your note in the box.
3. Click SAVE.

AWESOME! So...what should you take notes on anyway?

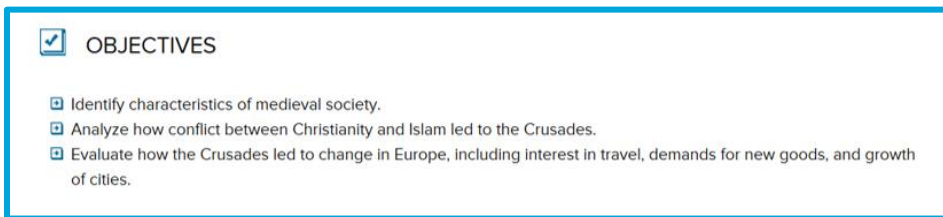

Good question! The answer is: You should take notes on anything you feel is important or that will help you remember what you have learned. Here's a hot tip:

It's better to have TOO MANY notes than not enough!

Here are a few other ideas of what to takes notes on:

OBJECTIVES

At the beginning of each assignment you will see OBJECTIVES. These tell what you should be able to do by the time you are done with the assignment. Pretty nice, huh? We like to be helpful like that 😊 → Take notes on anything you learn that relates to the objectives for the assignment.

VOCABULARY

After the objectives, you will see VOCABULARY. These are the words that will help you understand the topics you are learning about in the assignment.

| VOCABULARY | |
|---|--|
| <input checked="" type="checkbox"/> bourgeoisie | Property owners and businesspeople as a class, as contrasted with the working class or proletariat. |
| <input checked="" type="checkbox"/> Islam | The religion founded by Mohammed. In its essence Islam holds to the doctrine of the unity and omnipotence of Allah, and of the responsibility of every human being to Allah. |
| <input checked="" type="checkbox"/> medieval | Belonging to or having to do with the Middle Ages (the years from about A.D. 500 to 1450). |
| <input checked="" type="checkbox"/> Middle Ages | The period in European history between ancient and modern times, from about A.D. 500 to 1450. |
| <input checked="" type="checkbox"/> propagated | To reproduce, to increase in number or intensity. |
| <input checked="" type="checkbox"/> Saracens | Muslim Turks who conquered the Arabs in the A.D. 1000s leading to the Crusades. |

➔ Add a note whenever you see a vocabulary word used in the assignment. That way, you can go back later and review the word in the context of the assignment. This will help you to better understand what it means. Remember that you can click the  button to next to the word so you can hear how to pronounce it.

IMPORTANT INFORMATION

This goes back to what we said earlier. Anytime you see something that seems important, it's a good idea to add notes to help you remember them. Here are just a few examples of things to watch for and add notes about:

➔ Add short summaries, key points or ideas, or even fun ways to remember the information. This will be helpful when you come back to review them later. Your notes might even help you complete projects and other assignments.

AH-HA! MOMENTS

Have you ever had one of those moments where you thought “Oh...I GET IT!” Well, THAT is an Ah-ha moment! It’s a connection your smart brain has made to the topic you’re studying.

CRUSADES

MY NOTE

My Note

The crusades...This is the same time period that Robin Hood and King Arthur were set in.

DELETE SAVE

Warfare between European Crusaders and Muslim Turks went on for nearly two hundred years. In the end, the Crusaders retreated, and the Holy Land remained in the hands of the Turks. Although the Crusades were a failure, they had a great influence upon life in medieval Europe.

- ➔ Add notes to remember any “Ah Ha!” moments you have while you’re learning. They can be things that interest you, or that are connected to something you have already learned, or something you thought about that helps you remember the information in a certain way.

Guess who else can add notes?

If you said “My teacher” then fist bump to you! Your teachers will sometimes add notes in your lessons for you. They might do this to highlight something important, remind you of something you may have missed, or to provide more information about what you’re learning. Teacher Notes look like this:
